

Winnie Sambu

Researcher, Children's Institute,
University of Cape Town, South Africa

Winnie Sambu is a researcher at the Children's Institute (CI), University of Cape Town where her current focus is on Children Count- an ongoing data and advocacy project of the CI which monitors the wellbeing of children in South Africa. Her research interests include Food and Nutrition Security, Child Nutritional Outcomes, Poverty & Inequality, Living conditions and Urban Environments. She holds a Master of Economics (Development Studies) degree from the University of the Western Cape and a Master of Arts (Development Management) degree from Ruhr-Universität Bochum.